

Tuesday
Nov 12th
6:00-8:00 PM

Ingraham Hall
Rm 206
UW-Madison

The Asian American Studies Program and the Hmong Consortium at the Center for Southeast Asian Studies at the University of Wisconsin-Madison present a special panel:

the changing roles of hmong women in wisconsin

Anne Vang-Lo is a school teacher in Appleton. She is also conducting doctoral research at UW-Madison regarding women's leadership in the Hmong community in America.

Yer L. Vang is an immigration attorney in Madison, WI and lecturer for the course Hmong American Women's Experiences, UW-Madison.

Yer Yang is a highschool teacher in Sheboygan. She is also the first female Vice-President of the Hmong 18 Clan Council of Wisconsin and an advisor to Future Of Nplej, a Hmong character, leadership, and cultural development youth organization based in Sheboygan, Wisconsin.